Application Information and Procedures

The University of Regina offers home-based learners the following admission options:

1. A home-based learner may be admitted directly to the faculty if they obtain Adult 12 Standing through Saskatchewan Education. Such students must meet the regular admission requirement for their faculty of choice.
2. A home-based learner, age 18 or older, may be admitted as a casual student. Casual students may take only one or two courses per semester, to a maximum of 24 credit hours. Further information is available in the University of Regina Undergraduate Calendar. Some restrictions apply.
3. A home-based learner may be admitted to the Faculty of Arts, Faculty of Media, Art, and Performance, Faculty of Social Work following the procedure outlined in this profile. Home-based learners who would like to pursue degree programs in other faculties may be admitted to the Faculty of Arts to meet the transfer requirements to their Faculty of choice.

Students wishing to be admitted to the Faculty of Arts, Faculty of Media, Art, and Performance, or the Faculty of Social Work as a Home-Based Learner (3rd option above) must submit the following:

1. An Application for Undergraduate Program Admission
2. Application Fee
3. Statement of Identification (Part I)
4. Letter of Intent (Part II)
5. Home-Based Learner Transcript (Part III)
6. SAT I or ACT official result slip/other relevant transcripts (Part IV)

---

Please note that home-based learners follow the regular application deadlines as advertised in the University of Regina Undergraduate Calendar.
