RESOURCES
Readings	(LAW) David J. Doorey (2020) The Law of Work: Second Edition (Complete): Emond Press. The text was selected because of its comprehensiveness, depth, and relevance. The first edition will suffice if you can buy it cheaper. LAW will provide a foundation for the concepts and theories we discuss in lecture. (SEA) Saskatchewan Employment Act. Available on UR Courses. Additional readings will be assigned for the course and posted UR Courses (UR). A detailed list can be found below. Our class discussions will be based primarily on these readings. Readings must be completed by the time class begins this summer.
Content	In addition to conventional lectures and discussion, the course will include documentary film(s) and guest lectures by labour-management relation professionals who represent the side of unions/employees and management. The purpose of guest lectures is to introduce students to policy makers and professionals working in the field.

UR Courses

UR Courses will be used to post additional course readings and information, such as lecture slides, when available.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS & DESCRIPTION

Overview	Class contribution 15% Research paper (due August 13) 30% Collective bargaining exercise: Strategy report (July 31) 15% Collective bargaining exercise: Memorandum of agreement (July 31) 10% Collective bargaining exercise: Negotiation process (July 31) 15% Short essay (June 25) 15%
Class contribution	At the graduate level class contribution is a must. This does not mean you need to have an answer or comment for every issue discussed in class. Class contribution is assessed based on the quality and thoughtfulness of your questions and discussion points. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Citing relevant personal examples</li> <li>• Debating and disagreement with the instructor and peers in a professional and collegial manner</li> <li>• Working with others in and outside of the classroom</li> <li>• Listening with an open mind and responding to what others have to say</li> </ul>
Collective bargaining exercise	The collective bargaining exercise is a centerpiece of GBUS 844. Students will be divided into Management and Union teams. Your job is to get the best deal you can in the upcoming negotiations given your mandate. You will use the concepts from this course to prepare for bargaining and to negotiate with the other side. Collective bargaining cases will be distributed on the first day of class.
Research essay	The research essay may cover any number of issues, debates, legislation, or rulings related to labour-management relations that are addressed in the course. Please consult the “GBUS 844: Writing Assignment Guide” for further instructions. Papers must be 12-15 pages in length. Topics must be cleared with the instructor no later than July 31. You are encouraged to consult with the instructor at any point before course start date.
Short essay	The short essay must cover one of the assigned readings (or other approved material), as per the “GBUS 844: Writing Assignment Guide” instructions. Papers must be 4-5 pages in length and must be submitted through UR Courses no later than June 25.

CLASS PROTOCOL

Academic integrity	The core principles of academic integrity – honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility – should be at the forefront for all of the activities you do as a student and as a professional. It is your responsibility to understand the university’s policies on academic integrity and misconduct. Academic misconduct is a very serious issue with potential consequences ranging from failure in the course to dismissal from the university. Academic misconduct is defined broadly as any act that violates the rights of another student in academic work or that involves misrepresentation of your own work. A breach of academic integrity will be dealt with in a manner consistent with the policies of the University of Regina. Cases of academic misconduct will be forwarded to the Associate Dean (Graduate Studies) without exception.
---------------------------	---

	University of Regina policies can be found on-line:  http://www.uregina.ca/presoff/secretary/disciplinecommittee.shtml
Class preparation	This course involves discussion, class exercises, and guest lecturers. Every class requires your active participation. It is expected that you will have completed the assigned readings prior to class.
Personal technology	I understand that there are pedagogical reasons for laptops to be used in class. You are encouraged to use your laptop in ways that will enhance, and not detract from, your classroom experience and the experience of those around you. Using cell phones, smartphones, etc., in class for personal reasons is rude, and you'll be asked to put these devices away. Do I text when you are speaking? No.
Grades and grading	I am happy to answer any questions about grading and your assignments, but please note that grades are not negotiable. If you feel that an assignment has received an unfair grade, you are expected to make a case for why it should be re-assessed. This involves a short written submission (a paragraph or two) and taking the time to meet with the instructor to talk about the assignment. You should consider that grades could go down upon review. Medical notes are required for students who fail to hand in assignments on-time and/or are unable to write exams during the scheduled time and date. You will automatically be assigned a zero on missed exams and assignments without proper documentation and reason.
Centre for Student Accessibility	If students have any special needs that could impact their performance, the instructor must be made aware of this at the beginning of term. Students are encouraged to consult with the Centre for Student Accessibility for information regarding relevant policies and assistance programs (http://www.uregina.ca/studserv/disability/servicesavailable.shtml).

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY & EXPECTATIONS

Professionalism	Students and instructors both come to class with ideas about topic issues and expectations of appropriate conduct. Regardless of your point of view on the subjects addressed in class, it is important to be mindful of the need to ask questions and to make comments in a manner that respects everyone – fellow students, instructors, and guests. There is no reason to interrupt others when they are speaking or to make personal remarks. Talking out of turn or interrupting the class with private conversations is equally inappropriate. It is also important to acknowledge the right of everyone to be in an environment free from discrimination and harassment. If you are unsure about what constitutes discrimination or harassment, please see the Saskatchewan Human Rights Commission website (http://www.shrc.gov.sk.ca) or visit the University of Regina's Human Resources page to find out more about the Respectful University policy (https://www.uregina.ca/policy/browse-policy/policy-GOV-100-015.html).
Teaching philosophy &amp; expectations	I have developed my teaching around three guiding philosophies: (1) the importance of drawing from theories, concepts, grounded research, and practices in the classroom; (2) including multiple political and academic perspectives in developing lectures and facilitating class discussion; (3) actively engaging with course material to provoke reflection and the development of original insights. In my view the classroom is a place to facilitate student participation and discussion, as well as a lecture platform. We all have our own political and academic viewpoints, which are to be respected as well as open to debate. I take what you say seriously. Because this is a university course, you will be expected to think through the theories, concepts, policies, and practices as practitioners and scholars.
