Dr. Harvey King
Director
Centre for Continuing Education

Our past year framed an important milestone in the history of the University of Regina. We are celebrating 100 years of excellence in education, a path that began at the College Avenue Campus. The legacy of our campus was recognized as the home for community outreach and involvement, a legacy which we are pleased to continue as we carry out our mission to reach and serve the people of Saskatchewan with quality, flexible, innovative learning opportunities.

The needs of this learning community are varied and ever changing. They come to us with different goals and are at different stages in their lives. Working adults take advantage of our flexible scheduling and course delivery to attain their academic goals. Students outside of Regina seek further education through distance learning options. Busy professionals look for intensive professional development opportunities to enhance and gain skills to further their careers. Children, youth and adults alike seek engaging education in the performing arts at the Conservatory. Adults enjoy personal interest classes at the Lifelong Learning Centre. Students from around the world seek to become fluent in English to further their pursuit of education and employment opportunities in Canada.

The Centre for Continuing Education is unified by this mission to deliver the programs and educational opportunities to a wide array of students who might not otherwise have the chance to experience them. For us, every student has the right to realize their future through continuing education. Their stories of success and rich experiences are an important part of our annual report.

Through collaboration with our faculties, academic partners and our community interests during this report period, we had over 19,000 registrations in our programs, 5,000 of which took their classes at the historic College Avenue Campus. Our outreach initiatives allowed the University to reach and engage thousands of people in our community through lectures, programs, recitals and events in the same manner as 100 years ago!

Over the past year, our staff members have been recognized for their excellence and commitment to develop professionally. We are proud to acknowledge their contributions as they are the key reason for the successful activities and accomplishments you will soon read about.

Thank you for taking the time to read our report.

Continuing Education at a Glance

The story behind the College Avenue Campus frog.

David Gilhooly, an art instructor originally from California, was admired by both students and fellow art instructors during the 1960's. Subsequently, he has enjoyed considerable success as an artist, recognized primarily for his ceramic sculpture of food, planets and – frogs. For reasons unknown, his contract was not renewed and he left Regina around 1970. It is generally acknowledged, however, that Gilhooly was a major influence on visual art and artists within Saskatchewan.

Joe Fafard, a colleague of Gilhooly's, instructed an Art 100 class in the 1971 winter term. Joe and his students were fond of Gilhooly and decided to honour him by building a frog to commemorate Gilhooly's time in Regina.

A peaceful life was not to be the fate of the young frog. In 1972, a group of engineering students from the University of Saskatchewan attempted to remove the frog. What was to have been a mischievous prank went awry as even with the ingenuity of engineering students, the legs were broken away from the frog and remained broken for many years.

Finally in 2004 with the approval of Joe Fafard, Lorne Beug was officially engaged to restore the frog. Lorne, a well-known Regina artist, undertook structural and artistic repair and completed the work in the spring of 2005. The College Avenue frog continues to gaze serenely at the traffic on College Avenue acting as a landmark, a prop for photographs and a place for children to play.

About Us

OUR STUDENTS

Our students are diverse. They range in age from newborn to 99 and come from a variety of educational backgrounds - from those who entered the workforce straight from high school to those with PhD degrees. They each have one thing in common, the knowledge that learning never ends and a desire to invest in themselves, their families and their careers.

OUR INSTRUCTORS

Our instructors bring a passion for their topics to the table. All are qualified and accomplished in their fields, and more importantly, are committed to the success of their students.

OUR STAFF

Our staff is committed to helping students enrich their lives through continuing education. We take pride in our dedication to our students, instructors and the wider social and business communities around us.

OUR PROGRAMS

Continuing education means different things to different people – music, drama and dance for youth and adults; general interest classes and volunteer programs for adults; courses, workshops and events for working professionals; personal development opportunities; English as a Second Language training for international students; and degree certificates and courses in Regina and at a distance.

OUR FLEXIBILITY

Our commitment to learning for everyone means designing flexible scheduling that provides numerous learning opportunities. Learn Anytime, Anywhere provides courses at night, online and on weekends; Summer University enables students to finish their programs faster; distance learning opportunities make use of provincial networks, partnerships and technology to bring quality education to learners right in their own community; and many other programs are offered when our students need them.

OUR OUTREACH

Our programming areas look for collaborative opportunities to extend the resources of the University community who may not normally have reason or access to participate in formal education programs. Our outreach initiatives reach and engage thousands of people in our community through lectures, programs, recitals and events.

OUR STORY

The Continuing Education newsletter, CCE Connections, is published three times a year to let the rest of the University learn more about Continuing Education including its programs, events, people, and the community telling the stories of lifelong learners.

For courses academically based in other faculties, instructors are hired by approval and oversight of the Faculty. Lifelong Learning Centre, Business and Professional Development and Conservatory of Performing Arts contract instructors based on course demand. During 2010-2011, the Centre provided courses with seven permanent, six term, 536 sessional and 300 contract instructors.

Continuing Education Programs

We strive to provide greater continuing education opportunities and flexible programs. We continuously enhance and expand our programs for people of all ages and all stages of life in our community and beyond.

We provide many certificates and diplomas in specialized career fields that also allow students to ladder into full degree programs. These programs are offered through distance learning options allowing our students to take them anytime, anywhere.

Our personal and professional programs offer many career advancement courses for working professionals and personal interest classes for those who enjoy learning as a hobby.

Flexible Credit Studies

We are continuously growing our courses and programs for degrees, diplomas and certificates with the non-traditional learner in mind. Not only do we offer an array of courses and programs, we offer course flexibility and a variety of delivery methods to meet the needs of people with busy lifestyles who want to fit university into their schedule.

We work with partner faculties and federated colleges to update, refresh and develop relevant certificate options in response to emerging trends in student and market needs.

The Credit Studies Division houses diploma and certificate programs ideal for many. People in the workforce can add value to their resume or gain skills and knowledge in a particular field. Degree students can complement their program. People who want to get started in university can begin with a certificate or diploma before enrolling in a full degree program.

The Distance Learning Division brings education to students in the community, across the province and around the globe through online courses. Our team of instructional designers develop quality televised and video conferenced courses as well as face-to-face courses offered at regional colleges and sites throughout Saskatchewan. Tell us your story...by Jacquelynn Brown.

I am a mom with two small kids. My son is four years old and daughter is 18 months. I have a pretty good job, but I am as far as I can go with the limited amount of education that I have. I was so happy when I started to investigate taking classes at the U of R. They actually fit into my busy schedule. Once I get my degree, I will have the option to move further in my organization, make a little more money and provide more opportunities for my kids. Without online and night classes this wouldn't be possible. I can study on my lunch break or after the kids go to sleep, whenever it works for me. I am so excited about our future and I hope my kids will be proud of me when I DO succeed.

Continuing Education and the City of Regina completed a transfer agreement on the return of pottery kilns and wheels to the College Avenue Campus. Pottery programs will begin Fall 2011.

English as a Second Language (ESL) restructured its programs to three 13-week semesters to coincide with the academic calendar making it easier for ESL students to start a U of R program once they have completed the ESL program.

Business & Professional Development sponsored a second Executive Education Seminar from "The Disney Keys to Excellence" series. 136 Regina and area professionals and managers attended the event.

Watch for the next seminar coming in 2012.

Tell us your story...by Helen Martin.

I started taking courses because I wanted to meet people who shared some of my interests. Personal enrichment courses provide an opportunity to join discussions and I have learned so much from some of the people who speak up and talk about their life experiences. This is why personal enrichment courses are my favourite ones. They give me a chance to learn about the ways in which others cope with problems from the past or the present. The class members are friendly and accepting of me.

My favourite instructor is Paul Antrobus. He manages to keep the whole class involved in very interesting discussions and most often he can use a lifetime experience to illustrate the topic of discussion. I especially enjoy his zest for life and the twinkle in his eye.

SUMMER UNIVERSITY 2010

Tell us your Summer U story...by Trevor Grill.

I work full time but wanted to complete my post-secondary goals ASAP beginning with a business diploma and then a business degree. I was 10 years out of high school with a few post-secondary courses complete from back then. In order to get as many classes completed as I could while balancing my work schedule I have been taking 2 classes in the Summer semester for the last 2 years. Having been working for quite some time, I wasn't used to having summer off from anything so school didn't seem any different. I wanted to complete 6 classes each year but felt that 3 classes in each the Fall & Winter semesters would be too much work while also working full time. There is still plenty of time between semesters for anyone that needs to take a summer holiday.

Since I have now completed the diploma requirements and transferred into the degree program I have decided to give myself a bit of a break and just take an early Summer class this year and take July and August off from school. I plan to continue taking a Summer class each year until I complete my degree. Overall I just like the convenience of having the opportunity to take classes all year long rather than just Fall & Winter.

Stephen Wihak, Instructional Designer for the Distance Learning Division, embarked on a two-week trip to Malawi, one of the poorest countries in Africa, to work on a socio-economic development project, part of the Canadian International Development Agency's (CIDA) 10 part Malawi development project. This specific project is a partnership between the University of Regina, Faculty of Education and the University of Malawi Polytechnic. The objective is to support the Malawi government's goals to reduce poverty and create socio-economic development.

BPD PROVIDES TRAINING TO IMMIGRANT ENGINEERS

Business & Professional Development formed a partnership to address the high demand for engineers in Saskatchewan and a need to offer a program that bridges the skills gap in order to make immigrant engineering professionals qualified to work in the province. Working as an Engineer in Saskatchewan (WES) is a program designed to address these needs. The program began in September 2010 and ran as a pilot for the first year. The partnership includes the Ministry of Advanced Education, Employment and Immigration, U of S, Faculty of Engineering at the U of R and APEGS (Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists).

100 Years of Excellence in Education

Realize. Our centennial celebration.

2011 marks the 100th anniversary of the College Avenue Campus, home to the Centre for Continuing Education. The College Avenue Campus has been the foundation of education in Regina for the past century. In 1911, 27 students began their education at Regina College and construction began on buildings on the north side of Wascana Lake, west of Broad Street.

"These buildings, originally known as Regina College, are an important link to our heritage, and they are also an important part of the University's future," says University of Regina President and Vice-Chancellor, Vianne Timmons. "I'm very pleased that we're proceeding with the restoration and revitalization of these buildings for the benefit of students and the wider community."

A revitalization plan for the College Avenue Campus has been developed and construction will be put in motion once the necessary financial funds have been raised through public and private donations.

Many events celebrating the centennial have been scheduled throughout the year, including Homecoming 2011 on September 29-October 1. It's a weekend for alumni, family and friends to enjoy fun and entertainment including a Rams football games, pre-season bbq and pep rally, campus tours, Alumni Crowning Achievement Awards Dinner and more.

Realize. A lifetime of music at the Conservatory.

Another milestone for the University of Regina is the 100th anniversary of the Conservatory of Performing Arts. The Conservatory officially opened in 1912 and has continued to offer outstanding education in the performing arts.

Many Conservatory students have studied for years under our instructors and moved on to successful careers as musicians around the world. Others have found their passion for music and enjoy our classes at their leisure.

The Conservatory has ideas to celebrate in grand style. Some ideas involve a black tie performance with the Regina Symphony Orchestra, an awards gala and more. An invitation to all events will be extended to all Conservatory alumni, their family and friends, as well as the community.
