Master Class Program

Master classes at the Conservatory of Performing Arts offer a great learning and performing opportunity for Conservatory students. In order to make the most of these opportunities, anyone wanting to arrange a master class are asked to adhere to the following protocols.

Conservatory Standards for a Master Class
- it is expected that students participating in a master class will have at least 20 minutes of instruction from the master class instructor
- students participating and attending a master class will stay for the entire class time
- registration for Conservatory Master Classes will take place through the Student Services office
- all master classes offered by the Conservatory will be approved by and coordinated through the Head of the Conservatory
- the Conservatory requires a minimum of 2 weeks’ notice to arrange a Master Class

Expectations of the Master Class Organizer
- complete all information on the Master Class Request Form
- provide at least 2 weeks’ notice of the master class
- encourage students to attend
- inform the Conservatory of the expected musical performance level for the class (either grade level or beginner/intermediate/senior)
- provide a confirmed list of all students who participated in the class
- Master Class Clinician will be contracted to teach as a self-employed contractor through the Conservatory of Performing Arts, University of Regina
- compensation for the master class will be negotiated with the Head of the Conservatory

Expectations of the Conservatory Administration
- arrange adequate space for the master class
- arrange for registration for students and payment of instructor
- provide a list of students and pieces to be performed for the instructor prior to the master class
- negotiate payment and cancellation terms
