The University of Regina offers many opportunities for graduate students to be active in student events, recreation, physical activities, clubs, etc. The University Campus Recreation program provides competitive/recreational leagues, tournaments, and fitness classes. Counseling services are available to help students resolve personal difficulties that may arise from stress or relationship problems. The Counseling Centre addresses many of the concerns that students and others may encounter during their time at the University. All contacts are confidential, and services, with a few exceptions, are free. The University encourages all students including students with disabilities to investigate the possibility of a university education. The University aims to provide services that will enable students with disabilities to approach their studies with minimal difficulty. These services are facilitated by the Disability Resource Office.

WELCOME!

On behalf of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research (FGSR), it is a pleasure to extend to you an enthusiastic welcome to this campus. The University of Regina is committed to providing you with an outstanding educational experience at both the master’s and doctoral levels and in all categories of the graduate programs (thesis, project, practicum, and course based) offered at this university. The Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research is here to support your aspirations and the faculty and staff welcome your input on what we can do to ensure your time here will be a rich and rewarding experience. We recognize that investment in you and your education are investments for the future arising through your scholarly efforts and the new discoveries associated with your research accomplishments. It is you who will become the faculty and research leaders of tomorrow. Remember to seize the opportunities, academic, social and cultural that will come your way and enjoy all that there is to offer!

"Come with a dream, leave with a future."

Academic Standards:
A grade of 70% or more must be achieved in all normal graded course work, but students subject to a qualifying or probationary period may be required to achieve a higher overall average in the required course(s).

Students who do not achieve the required grade in a course may repeat that course or substitute another course, if the academic unit and FGSR agree.

Refer to policies and procedures at: www.uregina.ca/gradstudies/calendar

Research Ethics:
All research projects involving human subjects are required to have approval from the University of Regina Ethics Board (REB) regarding research protocol before research begins. Failure to obtain ethics approval can result in non-acceptance of the research undertaken.

CostS for GraduATE study

This calculator can estimate the costs for tuition, student union, recreational service, on a semester basis and charges will be dependent on the number of credit hours registered per semester and the graduate program selected.

All other costs (Books, Accommodations & Meals, Transportation) are based on a 12 month period and depend on the student’s living situation and what they eat.
