

Information for Indigenous Students

OUR COMMITMENT

Welcome to the University of Regina, located on Treaty 4 and Treaty 6 territories — the traditional lands of the nêhiyawak, Anihşinapek, Dakota, Lakota, and Nakoda peoples, and the homeland of the Métis/Michif Nation. We are grateful for the opportunity to learn, teach, and grow on this land, and we're committed to reconciliation through the inclusion of Indigenous knowledge, perspectives, and partnerships. From the welcoming ta-tawâw Student Centre to our collaborations with institutions like the First Nations University of Canada and Gabriel Dumont Institute, we're proud to support Indigenous students and build a more inclusive future for all.

PROGRAM OPTIONS

The University of Regina offers over 150 undergraduate programs across nine faculties, ensuring a program for every interest. Below is a list of the faculties you can explore:

ta-tawâw STUDENT CENTRE

YOU ARE WELCOME HERE. THERE IS SPACE.

taanishi (Michif), tanisi (nêhiyawêwin), anin sikwa (anihšīnapemowin), edlanet'e (Dene), hau koda (Dakota, Lakota, Nakoda) — hello! The ta-tawâw Student Centre offers a respectful, inclusive space that supports Indigenous students' empowerment, connection, and cultural learning. As a hub for community, it promotes smooth transitions to university, increased retention, active participation in events, academic success, and pathways to the workplace.

The Centre provides a range of programs and events to help students thrive socially, academically, and professionally.

ANNUAL EVENTS

SEP 26 - GLEN ANAQUOD ANNUAL MEMORIAL TIPI RAISING COMPETITION

Each September, the ta-tawâw Centre hosts the Glen Anaquod Annual Memorial Tipi Raising Competition, inviting university and high school students to engage in a fun, hands-on learning experience about Indigenous culture and values.

OCT 25 - MÉTIS FIDDLE DANCE

Get ready for a lively Métis fiddle dance featuring Tahnis Cunningham! Join Natalie McNabb for "Learn to Dance" sessions outside ta-tawaw on Sep. 23 and Oct. 21 from 3:30 - 4:30 p.m. to learn some steps before the big event.

FEB 7 - NEEKANEWAK LEADERSHIP ROUND DANCE

The Neekaneewak Leadership Round Dance at the University of Regina is an annual event that celebrates Indigenous culture through music, dance, and community, providing students and faculty an opportunity to honor traditions and for NLI students to demonstrate leadership.

APR 2 - INTRODUCTION TO POW WOW

Intro to Powwow features live dance performances and explores the cultural, spiritual, and historical aspects of powwow, including its development, dances, and regalia, welcoming all who want to learn more.

NEEKANEWAK LEADERSHIP INITIATIVE (NLI)

The NLI is a program where students are provided opportunities to enhance and develop the diversity of their leadership skills. Students participate in volunteer activities and any of the numerous events hosted in the Centre. Social gatherings are hosted throughout the academic year as a great way to network and connect with the campus and larger community. The ta-tawâw Student Centre hosts the Neekaneewak Leadership Initiative awards every year. The awards celebrate Indigenous students who support the community through their involvement and engagement in the Centre's programming.

The NLI focuses on four distinct areas of leadership development:

- Academic Leadership
- Professional Leadership
- Cultural Leadership
- Community Leadership

CULTURAL CREATIVITY

Take a break from studies and explore your creative side at the ta-tawâw Centre! The Centre offers art-making workshops for all skill levels, including ribbon skirt and shirt design, moccasin-making, and beadwork.

FIRST NATIONS UNIVERSITY OF CANADA

First Nations University of Canada (FNUniv) is the only First Nations-owned post-secondary institution in Canada, designed to ensure student success while embracing Indigenous values, history, and culture. With campuses in Regina, Saskatoon, and Prince Albert, FNUniv provides comprehensive student services to support academic and personal growth. The Regina campus is located on the atim kâ-mihkosit (Red Dog) Urban Reserve, Star Blanket Cree Nation, and Treaty 4 Territory, with Star Blanket being the first First Nation in Canada to create an urban reserve dedicated to education.

- Academically, FNUniv offers tutoring in subjects like math, science, and Indigenous languages, along with writing clinics to help students refine their skills.
- Community-wise, FNUniv hosts a variety of events throughout the year in partnership with the student association, including orientation, welcome week, holiday celebrations, and winter solstice activities, ensuring students feel connected and engaged.
- Personally, students have access to Elder services and ceremonies, supporting mental and emotional well-being while strengthening cultural values. Additional counseling services are also available through the University of Regina.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A FEDERATED COLLEGE STUDENT?

A federated college offers students a close-knit community within a larger university. First Nations University of Canada (FNUniv), one of the three federated colleges at the University of Regina, provides Indigenous students with a culturally supportive environment while they pursue their U of R degree. As U of R students, FNUniv students have access to all university services, classes, scholarships, and supports, alongside unique opportunities and a strong community.

CAMPUS LIFE & SUPPORTS

INDIGENOUS CAREER EDUCATION

Indigenous Career Education supports academic and career success with co-ops, internships, job postings, and workshops. Services include resume reviews, mock interviews, and an employer luncheon series to help you prepare for your career.

LIVING ON CAMPUS

Living on campus means being part of a supportive community with fun events and great perks! Choose from furnished rooms or 7-bedroom apartments, all with free wi-fi, utilities, 24/7 support, and cozy lounges. Plus, Indigenous students can apply for a $1,500 housing award each year!

KNOWLEDGE KEEPERS

Sit with, learn from, and be guided by on-campus Elders. Students also have access to a cultural advisory room to smudge and seek one-on-one counsel.

APPLYING FOR ADMISSION

1. APPLY FOR ADMISSION

2. PAY THE $100 APPLICATION FEE*

3. REQUEST FINAL TRANSCRIPTS

* If you plan to apply for band funding, please check with your post-secondary coordinator to find out if your application fee will also be covered. If so, you can request a deferral of the application fee by contacting Enrolment Services at enrolment.services@uregina.ca.
