Section One: Eligibility Criteria

To be eligible for the award:

a) A nominee is an organization that has been a reliable fieldwork placement for undergrad students from the Faculty of Kinesiology and Health Studies;

b) Preferred to have hosted at least one fieldwork student in the past three years.

Section Two: Nomination Process

Nominations are welcomed from undergraduate and graduate students, faculty and staff, and alumni of Kinesiology and Health Studies. The nomination procedure requires the completion and submission of the nomination form (i.e., this document), including a statement of no more than 250 words indicating why the Nominee deserves to be the award recipient based on the following criteria:

a) The nominee’s impact on the students from the Faculty of Kinesiology and Health Studies;

b) The previous experiences of other students with the nominated organization.

Nomination packages must be submitted to either the KHS General Office or electronically to the designate on the KHS Alumni Dinner committee by Marc 15, 2019. If submitting electronically, please send to khs.alumni.dinner@uregina.ca with ‘Award Nominee’ in the subject heading.

Section Three: Selection Criteria

The following criteria, in whole or in part, will be used to determine the successful recipient. The nominee will:

a) Agree to have their organization’s name put forward for the fieldwork award;

b) Agree to be awarded the Fieldwork Award if selected;

c) Have one individual agree to accept the award on behalf of the fieldwork organization;

d) Have positive experiences reported by previous fieldwork students;

e) Be considered based on other outstanding accomplishments that you identify.

The award recipient is encouraged to be available to attend the Kinesiology and Health Studies Distinguished Alumni Awards Dinner. They may also be asked to speak of experiences as a fieldwork supervisor.
