About the Regina Rams:
The Regina Rams have been a highly successful sports organization for many years. The Rams come from a long tradition of Canadian junior football, which dates back to the early part of the century when they formed in 1954. The Rams participated in the Man-Sask Junior Football League from 1954 to 1975. In 1976 the Rams joined with teams from Alberta to establish the Prairie Football Conference in which the Rams participated until 1998, the Club’s final year in junior football. The University of Regina Rams Football Club now competes in the Canada West Conference in Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS) against teams from Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, and Vancouver.
