LOUIS XHIGNESSE

REVISED

JANUARY 2010

BY ELIZABETH SEITZ

Biographical Sketch: Louis Xhignesse, a Belgian, came to the United States around 1951. Before coming, Xhignesse had worked as a volunteer intelligence agent in occupied Belgium for the Belgian High Command in exile during the Second World War. In 1963, Xhignesse came to the University of Regina as a Special Lecturer and remained here, as Assistant and then Associate Professor of Social Studies, until he retired in 1987.

From 1951 to 1955 Xhignesse studied aeronautical engineering and aeronautical maintenance and then completed a Bachelor of Science in mathematical-engineering at the University of Illinois, Urbana. He began graduate work in engineering psychology but became interested in the Communications program at the University of Illinois' Institute of Communications. In 1961, he began his doctorate in the study of communications and engineering psychology and by 1963 had completed his course work and examinations.

In 1963, Xhignesse came to the University of Regina, following Dallas Smythe, under whom he had studied at the University of Illinois. He continued work on his thesis but never completed it. From 1963 to 1987, Xhignesse taught, primarily, for the Department of Social Studies, as well as for the Canadian Plains Studies Program, Engineering, Psychology, and Religious Studies. Many of Xhignesse's classes were interdisciplinary in nature, and usually fell outside the core of required classes. In Social Studies he lectured on such topics as: the Symbolic Basis of Behavior, Communication and Social Reality, Man and Time, Time and Change, Propaganda, and Ecological Perspectives. Xhignesse worked on developing an undergraduate Human Information and Ecology Program, and a Social Studies (Human Ecology) Laboratory.

The following lists Xhignesse's terms of appointments:

1963 - Special Lecturer in the Division of Social Sciences

1972 - Assistant Professor of Social Studies, Division of Social Sciences

1974 - Associate Professor of Social Studies, Division of Social Sciences

1977 - Department of Social Studies becomes the Department of Sociology and Social Studies

Scope and content: The collection covers the years 1959 to 1987 and consists of personal records, Xhignesse's thesis, teaching material, notes, publications, seminars given and attended, committees and projects, the University of Regina "Plain Talk" series, and the reel-to-reel audio tapes, video tapes, and card catalogue from the Social Studies Laboratory.

The collection as it was originally received appeared to be a combination of Xhignesse's papers and the contents of the Social Studies Laboratory. A major part of the material from the Social Studies Lab has been deaccessioned: sections of the original card catalogue that duplicated each other; the publications (these titles are listed in the card catalogue; and some of the audio and video tapes. The audio and video tapes that were deaccessioned were either commercial tapes or CBC tapes that are already held by the National Archives: those tapes that remain in the collection are either original tapes relating to the University of Regina or CBC tapes that are not held by the National Archives. It was decided that the CBC tapes, although not original material, are significant enough in their documentation of Canadian life and culture that they should be kept.

*Note on arrangement: Files reorganized and some file titles altered - original order not useable.

Access Restrictions: This private collection may contain university records that are subject to review before access may be granted. Access to University records is governed by the Local Authority Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.
