Canadian Doctoral Nursing Network Conference University of Regina

Financial Assistance

This year some of the faculty from the Faculty of Nursing, University of Regina have offered to sponsor students to attend the Canadian Doctoral Nursing Network Conference (CDNN). Sponsorship is usually half the price of the registration, $37.50 and can only be used for the registration. Students who check the financial assistance box on the registration form will be randomly selected to receive funding. There is no guarantee of sponsorship and the number of sponsorships awarded is not guaranteed. Students awarded sponsorship will be notified via email by prior to the conference.

*You must register and check yes on the financial assistance section to be considered.
