HIGHLIGHTS – Too many to mention...

However, we can agree...

We have – together – reflected on past, current and future nursing ethics perspectives on pandemics and disasters

We have shared insights from scholarship/ research which relate to ethical and unethical aspects of care practices

We have – together – explored cross-cultural perspectives on meaning, complexity and possibilities regarding ethical responses and preparedness

We have moved forward with understandings of the purpose and potential of nursing ethics to effect change in practice, education, leadership and research

What about ‘IMPACT’?

From minimal ‘one new thought’ to effecting positive change in individual, organisational and societal care practices – examples from Human Rights and Nursing Awards

What has been said about the conference so far?

‘Timely, topical and with robust reflections’

‘Moving beyond emotional/raw responses’
