UR International

UR International is the link between the University of Regina and the international community. It provides services and creates opportunities for domestic students interested in studying abroad, and for international students who are interested in studying at our University.

UR International has full collaboration with faculties on campus to bring and host visiting scholars and collaborates with educational institutions, industry, government officials, foundations, and alumni around the world in a commitment to offer outstanding programs for faculty and students, as well as enhance learning and teaching. Currently, UR International is undertaking activities in many regions of the world, building strong international ties and a truly global university community. For more information please phone 306-585-6260 or 1-855-683-2181 or visit www.uregina.ca/international

Libraries

The University of Regina Library features a wide variety of resources including print, microform, audio/visual, and digital collections. Get assistance with your research from the Information Desk, through Instant Message, or text a question to 306-993-1116. Check out subject-specific guides, social media connections, and more at www.uregina.ca/library. Come to the Library for face-to-face reference help, to use one of the 213 public computers, to book a group study room, or to study in our quiet and newly-renovated study lounges.

Centre for Continuing Education (CCE)

CCE is committed to providing learning opportunities to enhance careers, explore new interests and develop new skills through its programming: degree credit courses and certificates offered at night, online, on weekends or by distance; professional and personal development courses, workshops, and events; a dynamic learning community at the Lifelong Learning Centre; individual and group music lessons at the Conservatory of Performing Arts; and the English as a Second Language Program. For more information, call 306-585-5807 or visit www.uregina.ca/cce

UR Guarantee

Students that actively participate in this program are engaged in activities on and off campus that prepare them for the world of work. Students will be employed in a career-related field within six months of graduation or the University will waive tuition and course fees for an additional year of undergraduate study and preparation. Call 306-585-4076 or 1-877-666-0822 or visit www.uregina.ca/urguarantee
