There are typically three Senate meetings held per academic year – in the fall, winter and spring. Senate orientation for new Senators is held in conjunction with the fall October meeting.

The Senate seeks representation from every sector of the community including business, academia, and cultural communities with a view to engaging the wider community locally, regionally, and nationally. 14 members of Convocation representing 12 electoral districts are elected to the Senate by Convocation.

Because of its broad public representation, the Senate has been described as the University's "window on the world." Its functions in this respect are of utmost importance. Its general area of concern is the academic welfare of the institution and, within this area, it has a variety of duties and powers. Most of the broader issues of academic policy within the University are reserved for its approval. In another role, it acts as an ultimate court in academic affairs.
