Faculty of Science Scholarship Committee
Report to Faculty of Science Council
September 18th, 2017

Items for Approval:

1. The Faculty of Science Scholarship Committee recommends Obadah Diar Bakerli, BSc in Computer Science, with Great Distinction receive the University Prize in Science at the 2017 Fall Convocation.
   1.1 A write-up for the Convocation program for Obadah is attached.

2. There were no applicants for the President’s Medal at the 2017 Fall Convocation. Therefore, there are no nominees for the Faculty of Science Dean’s Medal.

Items for Information:

The Department of Chemistry & Biochemistry awarded the Barschel Book Prize in Biochemistry (Latest edition of ‘The Merck Index’) to Andie Chernoff and Alison Phillips with no eligible alternates.

The Department of Chemistry & Biochemistry awarded the Canadian Society of Chemistry Silver Medal (Medal) to Tyrell Wees (Chemistry) and Sheena Hatcher (Biochemistry) with no eligible alternates.

The Department of Geology awarded the John Lewry Prize in Geology ($500) to Dylan Deck, with Jamie Schmidt as an alternate.

N. Mobed (Chair)
Associate Dean (Academic)
1.1 University Prize in Science

The University Prize in Science is awarded at convocation to the most distinguished student graduating with a first degree from the Faculty of Science. Obadah Djar Bakerli is the recipient of this prize at the 2017 Fall Convocation and is graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in Computer Science, Great Distinction.

Obadah attended Regina Huda School, and joined the University of Regina community in 2013. While studying here, he has received several awards including: Academic Silver Scholarship (2014, 2015 and 2016), Centennial Merit Scholarship, and Viterra Scholarship in Computer Science, in recognition of his academic achievements.

The Faculty of Science congratulates Obadah on his accomplishments and wishes him the best of luck with his future endeavours.