UR Self-Service Graduation Application
Student Instructions and Information

Read the following important information before applying to graduate. Also visit the graduation and convocation webpages for more details.

General Overview

- Starting September 1, 2020, the paper application will no longer be available on the web and will no longer be accepted at the faculty and federated college student services offices.

- The application submission windows available:
  - August 1 to January 31 in order to be presented at the spring convocation ceremony.
  - February 1 to July 31 in order to be presented at the fall convocation ceremony.
  - Graduate Students (Doctoral, Masters, and Graduate Diplomas or Certificates) must also be aware of specific graduate student deadlines.

- You will file your intent to graduate using the UR Self-Service graduation application.

- All communications will be sent to your preferred and uregina.ca email addresses. It is your responsibility to ensure you are checking your email accounts regularly for messages from ur.graduation@uregina.ca and your academic advisors. It is a good practice to check it daily.

- Student records are audited by the academic advisors in the faculties and federated colleges. If there is ever an issue with your grade point averages, distinctions, courses, etc., please contact your specific faculty or federated college student services office as soon as possible.

- All students approved to graduate are automatically added to the convocation ceremony souvenir program. A souvenir program is also printed for remote/online celebrations. Therefore, it is your responsibility to inform the Registrar’s Office if you want your name to be excluded from the convocation program by the end of your final term. The name is automatically printed unless we hear from you via email by May 1 for the spring ceremony in June and September 1 for the fall ceremony in October. See Privacy at Convocation.

- Early or delayed participation in the convocation ceremony is not allowed at the University of Regina. All students must participate in the convocation ceremony they are approved for whether it is at an in-person or remote celebration. Students at the University of Regina have to be approved for graduation in order to participate in the convocation ceremony.

- At in-person convocation ceremonies, parchments are distributed at the venue before the ceremony. If an in-person ceremony is cancelled, graduates will be celebrated remotely, and your parchment(s) will be mailed to your current mailing address listed in UR Self-Service. To avoid delays or to prevent your graduation package from going missing, ensure your mailing address is correct by May 1 for the spring ceremony in June and September 1 for the fall ceremony in October. Note: If your graduation package is returned to the Registrar’s office undeliverable or if it goes missing due to an incorrect or incomplete address, you are responsible to pay for the reprinting and remailing fees (as necessary).

- If you have a financial hold on your account, you will not receive any official documentation of graduation (parchment, transcripts, letters of confirmation, etc.) until the hold is cleared.

- Deadlines are strictly enforced.

Trouble Shooting Guide

Error Messages
There are various error messages that you may see while applying to graduate. In some cases, you are to contact your faculty or federated college student services office for solutions.

Screenshots

1. There is a curriculum error in your file. To update your curriculum record, please contact your faculty, federated college, or academic unit's student services office.

2. You have already submitted your application to graduate. Please click here to view your application status.

3. Select Curriculum
   You are not able to submit an online graduation application at this time. This may be because of one of the following reasons:
   1. Students may only apply to graduate when registration is open for the corresponding term.
   2. You have already filed your graduation application.
   3. You do not meet eligibility requirements to apply.

Curriculum Selection Page
All active Sought (SO) programs will be visible under the “Curriculum Selection” page in the online application. It is important to review these programs before making a selection. If you are uncertain of which program is the correct program to apply for, contact your faculty or federated college student services office. An example of a couple of scenarios:

1. You are a graduate student and your current graduate program is listed as well as and an undergraduate program. This is perhaps because you transferred programs as a U of R undergraduate student, but the old program was not inactivated in the system. In this case, ignore the undergraduate program and select the graduate program.
2. The only program visible has a tilde (~) next to the program title, or “Qualifying” in the program name. Do not select a program and contact your student services office. Once your curriculum is corrected, you will be able to return to UR Self-Service to complete the online application.

Revisions after the Application has been submitted
If you need to have your program updated after you have submitted your application through UR Self-Service, (adding a minor, for example):

a. Contact your faculty or federated college student services office.
   b. Once updated in the student information system you will see your updated program in UR Self-Service by selecting “View Status of Graduation Applications.”

To change your RSVP to the convocation ceremony, or your declaration for the Graduate Retention Program contact ur.graduation@uregina.ca.

Was Your Application Received?
If you believe your application was missed, first double check to see if your application was received by reviewing the “Apply to Graduate” or “View Status of Graduation Applications” in UR Self-Service. If your program appears in the “Apply to Graduate” section, your application was not submitted, so apply now. If it appears in the “View Status of Graduation Applications” section – it was received. Contact your faculty or federated college to follow-up.

Adding Additional Programs
Home Faculty
If, as an undergraduate student, you want to add or change programs within your home faculty, contact your faculty or federated college to book an advising appointment. The faculty or federated college will then update your curriculum as necessary and then you will apply to graduate online.

External Faculty
If, as an undergraduate student, you want to add an external program (from another faculty), review the following regulations: “Adding a Second Program” (Undergraduate Admissions section) and the first point under “Awarding of Concurrent and Additional Degrees” (Graduation section) in the undergraduate calendar.
